MNCs benefit from India's explosive consumer growth

Country's share in global growth 2-8 times its volume share: Report

SURAJEET DAS GUPTA
New Delhi, 23 April

India is showing a disproportionate contribution to global volume growth for consumer products, with its growth contribution over the past five years (2019-24) outpacing its volume share across categories by 2-8 times compared to last year, making the country a robust growth engine for global consumer product multinational majors.

According to a report released on Wednesday by Bain & Company, 'Playbook for Consumer Products Multinational Corporations in India', in consumer appliances, for instance, India's share of global volumes in 2024 was 5 per cent, but its share of global incremental volume growth between 2019 and 2024 was a marked 44 per cent — 8.6 times more than its volume share last year.

The same trend is discernible in other categories — in apparel and footwear, the country had 8 per cent of the global volume share in 2024 but a 34 per cent share of global incremental volume growth in this category over the past five years.

In hot beverages, India's global volume share in 2024 might be 6 per cent, but its incremental share over five years was 24 per cent. In the category of snacking, India's global volume share in 2024 was 10 per cent, but its incremental volume share over the past five years was 2.1 times more, at 22 per cent.

Bain also profiled around 42 global consumer product companies with revenues of over $10 billion, of which 30 operate in India — these included fast-moving consumer goods companies but excluded tobacco, agriculture, and food processing companies.

The analysis shows that winning in India can be quite rewarding — for several such companies, the India affiliates delivered disproportionate total shareholder returns (TSR), which were 2-6 times more than their global parents between 2015 and 2024. Not only that, Bain reveals that 60 per cent of consumer product multinational companies (MNCs) in India are growing (in terms of compound annual growth rate between 2018 and 2023) at nearly twice the global growth rate — an opportunity missed for MNCs that are not present in India.

For instance, a UK-based consumer products company with a market capitalisation (mcap) in India of $64 billion had a 10-year total shareholder return (2015-2023) of 12 per cent in India, which was 1.8 times higher than its global parent.

A European consumer company

(with an Indian mcap of $24 billion) had a TSR in the same period in India of 15 per cent, compared to its global parent, which was only one-fifth.

In other sectors, a US-based oral care company (mcap in India of $9 billion) saw its TSR 2.4 times higher in India than that of its global parent.

A US-based home appliances company (with an mcap in India of $3 billion) recorded a TSR of 11 per cent, which was 12.7 times higher than its global parent. There is more good news — for winning MNCs, India also offers healthy double-digit earnings before interest, tax, depreciation, and amortisation margins, in line with those of their parent MNCs.

India to submit climate adaptation framework to UNFCCC by Sep

PUJA DAS
New Delhi, 23 April

India will have an enhanced and more holistic plan of combating climate change, going down to economic and social structures to broaden its scope.

Termed the National Adaptation Plan (NAP), which will be submitted to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) by September, this marks the country's first such framework in line with its global commitments.

Though India has its National Action Plan on Climate Change (NAPCC), the country for the first time is drafting it in compliance with the Paris Agreement. India's NAPCC, which has been submitted to the UNFCCC, focuses in a major way on mitigation — reducing greenhouse gas emission. Being spearheaded by the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC), the draft on the new plan focuses on nine thematic areas — agriculture, water resources, health, gender issues, poverty, traditional knowledge, finance, resilient infrastructure, and biodiversity & forestry.

There have been consultations between the MoEFCC and line ministries and a few are expected before those ministries submit their sectoral framework to the MoEFCC by July, an official said.

IN THE SCHEME OF THINGS

■ The National Adaptation Plan marks India's first framework in line with global commitments

■ Spearheaded by the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC)

■ Based on 9 thematic areas such as agriculture, water resources, health, gender issues, poverty, etc

■ Aims at integrating climate-change adaptation with upcoming and existing policies

The NAP also aims at facilitating the integration of climate-change adaptation with relevant upcoming and existing policies, programmes, development planning processes, and strategies.

This is significant because the global average temperature has already touched 1.6 degree Celsius above pre-industrial levels.

Germanwatch, in its report in February, said extreme weather events claimed at least 80,000 lives in India and caused an economic loss of $180 billion between 1993 and 2022. Queries sent to the spokesperson and secretary to the MoEFCC remained unanswered till the time of going to press.

"UNFCCC countries that are preparing NAPs voluntarily have been asked to submit those by September. By September, we will submit NAP 1.0 to the UNFCCC. NAP 2.0 will come after five years along with the NDC (nationally determined contribution) cycle and it will be refined based on the next assessment report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change and the outcomes of COP30 (30th Conference of the Parties to the UNFCCC), which is being termed the 'adaptation COP', the official said.

India's next round of NDC, which will be submitted to the UNFCCC before COP30, will likely draw on the NAP.

On implementation, the official said: "Adaptation being a locally sensitive issue, the implementation plan will be anchored by state governments and local governing bodies, depending on their regional adaptation requirements amid climate vagaries. Those plans will be implemented with the help of the private sector."

The latest Economic Survey has highlighted the significance of adaptation measures to tackle global warming and consequent climate change in the country, pointing out the need for a region-specific adaptation strategy. Domestic expenditure on adaptation rose from 3.7 per cent of gross domestic product in FY16 to 5.6 per cent in FY22. However, it remains inadequate.

According to a Climate Policy Initiative report, India needs substantial climate finance for adaptation, estimated at over $1 trillion, between 2015 and 2030, particularly in sectors like agriculture, water resources, and disaster management.

India faces health risks from rivers polluted with antibiotics

Eighty per cent of total length of India's rivers could be posing environmental and health risks due to antibiotic pollution, a study has estimated.

Along with India, Nigeria, Ethiopia, Vietnam, and Pakistan are among the countries facing similar risks due to pollution from antibiotics, the research, published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (PNAS) Nexus, said.

Researchers from McGill University, Canada, explained that antibiotics — they help fight bacterial diseases — are not completely metabolised while passing through the body, nor completely destroyed or removed by most wastewater treatment facilities.

Potentially 315 million people in India could be exposed to environmental risks arising from rivers contaminated with antibiotics, according to the study.

Ray-Ban Meta glasses to launch in India soon

Meta will launch its flagship product Ray-Ban Meta glasses in India soon, the company said in a blog post on Wednesday. The launch will be scheduled with countries such as Mexico and the United Arab Emirates.

The social media conglomerate is also rolling out a live-translation feature for the all users across the globe. It will also provide an option to send and receive direct messages, photos, audio calls, and video calls from Instagram.

"This joins being able to make calls and send messages through WhatsApp and Messenger, as well as the native messaging app on your iPhone or Android phone," the firm said.
